First Epidemic of VOTER FRAUD Already Reported In Nevada!!!

Author : michaelbloomer

Since the 2011 elections, the GOP grabbed control of eleven more state legislatures, won a net gain of six governorships, and immediately warned us about many things they were going to look deep into and legislate wide about. Among their top non-abortion priorities was to address the blight of voter cheating that certain folks - and lots of them - were using in to cheat certain Presidents into office. In some states they were able to find upwards of six or seven cases of this kind of fraud in the previous five decades, so you can see why they were worked up. Epidemics are scary.

Anyways, they passed a bunch of laws to stop this nonsense. Look agt the success map below! [1.

(click for larger) Source: Brennan Center for Justice.]

Well, as it's turned out, darned if they weren't right. During the past week, an epidemic named Roxanne Rubin broke out in the swing state Nevada, during early voting no less! Check this out!

Here's the November 2, 2012 statement of the Nevada Secretary of State's Office:

> (Las Vegas, NV; November 2, 2012) – Agents from Nevada's multi-jurisdictional Elections Integrity Task Force today arrested a Southern Nevada woman charged with attempting to vote twice in the presidential election.
>
> A criminal complaint alleges that on or about October 29, 2012, Roxanne Rubin voted in the 2012 Clark County General Election at a polling station at The Anthem Community Center in Henderson. Later the same date Rubin appeared at a Las Vegas polling station at 9725 S. Eastern Avenue, and attempted to vote a second time. The poll worker conducted a routine computer database search which indicated that Rubin had already voted, and informed Rubin that the database indicated she had already voted.
>
> It is further alleged that Rubin responded that she had not already voted, but a search of the computer database reconfirmed that she had already voted at the Anthem polling place. The complaint also alleges that Rubin insisted the database was incorrect, continued to claim that she had not voted, and further insisted that she be allowed to vote. Poll workers did not allow Rubin to vote, and reported the incident to the Clark County Registrar's office, which notified the Secretary of State's office.

Look here for the affadavit in support of the criminal complaint. [2. Affadavit Note that the afiant, a Secretary of State criminal investigator, believed "that Rubin was willing to risk the (criminal) penalty, in order to expose what she perceived as a weakness in the voting process," at page 9]

So, epidemics beware! We caught us one, and stopped her cold. Nevada's Democratic Secretary of State, Ross Miller said, "The system apparently works. There were safeguards in place to detect her and stop her." It sure did.

Oh, by the way, Epidemic Roxanne Rubin, a 56 year old Executive Casino Host at the Stratosphere Casino in Las Vegas, is a registered Republican.