Just In Time To Be 2 Days Late For Christmas: 11 GOP Memoirs NO ONE Wants You To Read!

Author : michaelbloomer

[Reader's note: All underlined in-text hyperlinks in this post are not links I have attached to the post. They are malware infesting the internet. Don't click them. They are spam. I'm trying to learn how to remove this problem from my site, but until then, please note that all my legitimate links are not underlined and they appear in the footnotes only, listed at the bottom of the post. I'm working on a fix to these sneaky hyperlinks. Thanks! Mike]

Just In Time To Be 2 Days Late For Christmas:
11 GOP Memoirs NO ONE Wants You To Read!

By Michael Matthew Bloomer, Friday, Dec. 27, 2012.

Just in case you forgot that Christmas occurs on the same date each year (Dec. 25), here are some remarkably unreadable GOP political memoirs. Just released in time to be unavailable for Christmas day, the authors include

- the dark luminaries like Dick Cheney, Newt Gingrich, Eric Cantor, and John Boehner,
- the brightly lit up loonies like Michele Bachmann, Rick Perry, and Herman Cain,
- and the darkly luminescent brightly shining nutty as fruit cake Rick Santorum,
- Oh, and a certain former Presidential decider as well, with a Mitt Romney thrown in for old time's sake.

All can be delivered to your least favorite friends of acquaintances, each can be had for under $1.99 (as of this writing) from book remainder resellers everywhere!