

Texas Fertilizer Plant Explosion Aftermath : A Compassionate Conservative Pours It On

Author : michaelbloomer

Michael Matthew Bloomer, April 18, 2013

Compassionate Conservatism 101: The Economics of Empathy, Exercise 1

"No one has ever become poor by giving, but goddamn it, why take the risk?"

-- attributed to Ayn Rand by me without evidence of any kind

Anonymous says:

April 18, 2013 at 3:43 pm

Hey this happed about 10 min from my house. It was an accidental explosion. There was a fire there that caused an ammonium tank to explode. Any donations are welcome and needed.

Reply

•

Anonymous says:

April 18, 2013 at 5:29 pm

sorry man this is the donation - any disaster or accident which ones should be blamed on somebody, will be used by the govment as false-flag may be next time you will be more careful not to kill each other in an accident false-flag

[Emphasis added]

Feel free to click "Reply" to weigh in.

[caption id="attachment_5463" align="aligncenter" width="340"]

"Look, Gramps, next time be more careful when you old coots shoot a missile at a fertilizer factory. Is that too much to ask?? Is it?"[/caption]

Replace with your logo

They Will Say ANYTHING!

Disturbingly Left of Center

<http://latestbloomer.uskoa.com>

Nuff said...*