"Trump is not on the 2018 ballot, but White House plans full-on campaign for GOP candidates

The president's aides have met with 116 political hopefuls in recent months, senior White House officials said.

The president has told advisers he wants to travel extensively and hold rallies." [Washington Post, 12-16-2017]

Here's the immediate reaction of one of the 116 candidates and one of he 4th grade students:

I'm not the best judge of human emotions, but that seems like joy to me.
